Public Lecture

The Law of Monopoly Control in the EC and UK

Professor Mark Furse

University of Glasgow

Thursday, 6 November 2008, 6:30 – 7:30 pm

Council Chamber, 8/F Meng Wah Complex, University of Hong Kong

In this lecture, Professor Furse will outline the general law of the control of monopoly firms in the EC and in the UK with particular reference to recent issues, including the control of excessive prices and the control of exclusionary conduct. Some analogies may be made with the position in China, and the position in the US which in certain key respects differs from that of the EC and China.

Professor Mark Furse is a Professor of Competition Law and Policy at the University of Glasgow. Professor Furse has been working with competition law for over 20 years. He has written extensively about competition law, and is a General Editor of Butterworths Competition Law Service and sits on the editorial board of the European Competition Law Review. He is currently working on a major book on competition laws in China, Hong Kong, Korea and Vietnam.
