

Taxation Law Research Programme (TLRP)
Asian Institute of International Financial Law
www.AIIFL.com
Faculty of Law
The University of Hong Kong

Seminar

Tax Hot Topics Affecting Dual Residents

Sarah Hinchliffe

Visiting Professor of Law
College of William and Mary Mason School of Business

Thursday, 20 August 2015
12:45 – 1:45 pm
Academic Conference Room
11/F Cheng Yu Tung Tower
The University of Hong Kong

This seminar provides participants with an insight into key issues affecting a person's residency classification for taxation purposes. Individuals who are in the medical profession, lawyers, financial advisors, persons who are in professional service sectors, and those who travel internationally frequently as part of their work engagements would benefit from attending this seminar. Highlights include international taxation minimization versus avoidance, recent tax structuring issues, and laws governing trusts and estates.

Sarah Hinchliffe is a Visiting Professor of Law at the College of William and Mary Mason School of Business, and specializes in U.S., International and Comparative Taxation Law, also Trusts and Estates. Professor Hinchliffe is an Australian Lawyer as well as a Chartered Tax Advisor, an Associate member of the Law Institute of Victoria, and of the Taxation Institute of Australia. She has practical experience in the area of taxation law having worked for the Australian Taxation Office and in private legal practice. Professor Hinchliffe is a co-founder of a boutique law firm based in Melbourne, Australia. She has held a number of international academic appointments, including at Harvard Law School, Boston University School of Law, the University of Nevada William S. Boyd School of Law, the University of Hong Kong, the University of Melbourne, Monash University, Victoria University, and the Taxation Institute of Australia. Professor Hinchliffe has been an external editor for the Law Institute Journal, Editor in Chief of the Journal of Australian Taxation, and has been engaged by the Productivity Commission as a consultant.

Please register on-line via www.AIIFL.com or email Flora Leung at fkleung@hku.hk to reserve a place.