Competition and Government: How Much Regulation?

Deborah Healey

UNSW Faculty of Law

Thursday, 12 March 2009

6:30 - 7:30 pm

Council Chamber, 8/F Meng Wah Complex, University of Hong Kong

Deborah Healey will discuss the proposed Hong Kong competition law and particularly its application to government and government businesses. She will look at comparative material from Australia, which has a successful competition law, and also China, where the Anti-Monopoly Law applies to these bodies, subject to some exemptions.

Deborah Healey of UNSW Faculty of Law has written, taught and practised as a solicitor in the area of Competition Law for many years. She is particularly interested in the application of competition laws to government and state owned enterprises in Australia and China, and is in Hong Kong looking at the area in relation to the proposed Hong Kong competition law.

Please register on-line via www.AIIFL.com or email Flora Leung at fkleung@hku.hk to reserve a place.
