An introductory level course to the operation of international taxation as it applies to expatriates and businesses!

Hear from an Australian legal practitioner and an Assistant Professor at the University of Akron, Sarah Hinchliffe, who will provide you with a comprehensive introduction to the current international tax regime operating in select jurisdictions, including Hong Kong, the EU, Mainland China, Australia, the United Kingdom and the United States.

Topics covered will include:

- How tax residents (companies and individuals) of Hong Kong, Mainland China, Australia, the EU, UK and US are taxed – who is considered a resident in these respective jurisdictions and the extent to which the tests differ?
- How source of income is determined and taxed in these respective jurisdictions?
- An overview of the OECD Model Tax Convention, and recent international tax reforms.
- The impact of Taxation Treaties (including Double Tax Treaties) in the respective jurisdictions.
- How expatriates of Hong Kong, Australia, the UK and US are taxed.
- An overview of international taxation compliance, including clarification about hidden traps concerning ‘schemes’ and investment structures for individuals and businesses in the respective jurisdictions.
- Recent changes since 2017 concerning Thin-Capitalisation and Transfer Pricing.
- What anti-profit shifting measures operate, and imminent changes.

Who Should Attend?

The introductory-level program is designed for individuals, including practitioners and post-graduate commerce or law students, who seek a good understanding of the international tax system in Hong Kong, Mainland China, Australia, the UK and the US.

This course is not intended for those who are experienced in how the international tax regime operates in these respective jurisdictions.

Presenter:

Sarah Hinchliffe, Assistant Professor, University of Akron; Principal & Legal Practitioner Director: Hinchliffe-Princeton Legal; Barrister & Solicitor (High Court of Australia, Supreme Court of Victoria); CTA; AIIFL Honorary Fellow.

AN INTRODUCTION TO INTERNATIONAL TAXATION

Course Level and Prerequisites

This is an introductory level course. Participants may have a basic knowledge of the domestic law of at least one country as it relates to taxation of foreign income derived by resident individuals and domestic-source income received by non-resident individuals. In addition, a very basic understanding of the function of double tax treaties would be helpful, but the course will proceed on the basis that course participants are new to dealing with treaties.

Advance Preparation

In order to participate in this particular course, no advanced preparation is necessary. Suggested reading materials will be provided at least two weeks before the start of the course.
